Everything But Ability Discussed

Pauley Convinced He is Going to Win in Fight for Appointment

WASHINGTON, March 1 — (AP) — Angry clashes between senators Tobey (R-NH) and Tydings (D-Md.) kept the hearing on Edwin W. Pauley's nomination as navy undersecretary in an uproar today.

Tobey is fighting the Pauley appointment, Tydings is for it. The two have wrangled repeatedly during the Senate's naval committee hearing on Pauley's fitness for the post.

At one point today, Tobey protested that Tydings was trying to "impeach" a witness. At another there was dispute whether Tobey was slurring Pauley.

Tobey charged that Pauley had "reneged" on previous testimony after Pauley had interrupted a witness to say that he did not believe that his brother, Harold Pauley, ever was president of Midwest Associates. This was a firm that purchased part of the properties of Petrol Corp., Pauley's company.

Refers to Record

Tobey turned to the record several days ago when he asked whether Harold Pauley was president of the firm, and the nominee said yes.

Pauley said that if he testified that way he failed to understand the question.

"How many questions have you failed to understand?" Tobey shouted.

"Now as to slurs—" Tydings broke in.

"This is no slur," Tobey roared. "He made a positive statement. He has made a statement and then come in here eight or nine times and asked to change it. How far, in the name of heaven, can we believe the testimony when he keeps reneging on it?"

When Tydings advised calmness, Tobey said that he could imagine what would happen if Tydings found that a witness unfriendly to Pauley had "crossed himself up."

"The roof of the building would almost come off," the New Hampshire Senator said.

Interruptions

The interruptions came during questioning of John A. Smith, California oil man, T. S. Peterson, vice president of the Standard Oil Co. of California, and Chet Crank, Los Angeles advertising man.

Smith, whose appearance yesterday enlivened the hearing when he asserted that Pauley once had been fined for "stealing oil" and Pauley shouted "It's a dirty lie," was recalled for further testimony concerning Pauley's activities in a 1939 campaign to repeal a California oil conservation bill.

Peterson described the way in which he understood Standard acquired some of the petrol corporation's properties.

Testifies on Salaries

Crank testified that Petrol paid the salaries of two California state legislators he employed for five months in 1939 and 1940 at $200 monthly. He identified the two men as John W. Evans and Cecil R. King. The latter, a democrat, is now a member of congress from California.

The two California legislators were active, Crank said, in obtaining permits for driveway changes and other construction with the petrol corporation's efforts to persuade filling stations to sell its products.

Pauley Testified Otherwise

Pauley previously had testified he had no knowledge that any legislators had been employed by his firm.

Senator Tobey (R — N. H.) brought out that a 1939 campaign in which Pauley was active, to prevent repeal of a California oil conservation law, was under way when the two were employed through Crank's advertising agency.

Crank said, however, he suggested the employment of Evans to Petrol officials and believed that Evans had suggested King's name. Pauley has refused to yield an inch in his fight for continuation.

Sure He'll Win

"I'm convinced I'm going to win," he declared to reporters. "The only way I would consider withdrawing would be to be frozen out by the committee, and I'm convinced that's not going to happen."

BULLETIN

DETROIT, March 1 — (AP) — The CIO United Auto Workers today rejected General Motors' proposal to settle the 101-day old nationwide strike.

The action was taken by the strikers' General Motors' Council, which originally called the strike last Nov. 21. A statement said:

"The conference has voted unanimously to reject the company's maximum offer to date because it failed to meet the standards set up by the recommendations of the president's fact-finding board, recommendations which were endorsed by President Truman."

Break-ins, Robberies Early Today

The police had a busy time this morning answering break-in calls. The first came at 6:46 o'clock from the Glenn Grocery store 1021 South Ohio avenue. Investigation revealed that entrance had been gained by prying the lock and hush of the garage door and going through the garage to the back door of the store. Indications are that the glass was lifted from the door and the bars pried up to provide room for prying the lock from the door. About $6 in pennies rewarded all this effort.

A call from the Staples Grocery store, 116 West Sixteenth street, was received at 7:15 a. m. The break-in was made through the front door, from which the lock and hush had been pried. About $1.50 in pennies were taken.

Other Robberies

The Firpo tavern, southwest corner Sixteenth street and Grand avenue, was harder it. Answering a call received at 8:02 a. m., the police discovered that a thief or thieves had entered by raising an unlocked south window, had broken the music box and taken about $10, had pried on the cigarette machine to .20 a roll and had taken a box of 250 cigars with them on their exit via the storage room. They also helped themselves to the key.

The fourth victim was Leonard Greer's Hamburger Place, 706 South Engineer avenue, which was looted of $10 in pennies. Police received the call at 9:20 o'clock. Entrance was gained by raising a window.

Call 35 Men for Induction March 14

The Selective Service Board has received a call for 35 men for March 14 to go to Ft. Leavenworth for pre-induction physical examinations.

Thursday Was Jacob Golden's Unlucky Day

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 1 — (AP) — Jacob Golden put his life savings into a small store and home.

They burned last night — 15 minutes after his insurance policy had lapsed. Funds of a small rural church entrusted to Golden went up in smoke. He remembered he had $90 in a pair of shoes under a bed. A neighbor retrieved the shoes. Golden helped battle the flames, then found his shoes missing.

The fire spread, consuming his garage, a chicken house, and the adjacent home of his daughter.

LaMonte Resident has Unusual Incident in Excelsior Springs

Charles Wheeler of LaMonte, while in Excelsior Springs Thursday attending a meeting of insurance men, dropped into a jewelry and gift shop in the Royal hotel to visit briefly with a clerk with whom he was acquainted.

The proprietor of the store had gone from the place to show a prospective customer some antiques. Two men were in the store at the time Wheeler was there and it developed that while the clerk's attention was diverted by one of the men who looked at earrings, the other picked up three diamond rings valued at $2,370 and two pens and pencil sets, valued at $175.

Standing on the street looking into the shop Buford West of Excelsior Springs noticed the man remove the jewelry from the case and put it in his pocket and West suspected shoplifting.

He saw W. A. Payne, police chief a short distance away and notified him of his suspicions. With his motor car Payne blocked the path of the men, who had entered a 1942 Chrysler sedan and were attempting to drive away from the curb.

Payne took the men to headquarters and recovered the jewelry. He said they had $675 and a check for $780 from a New York bank. They gave their names as Thomas D. Martin, 28, and C. H. Brown, 28, of 3045 Forest avenue, Kansas City.

They were taken to the county jail at Liberty by highway patrolman Lloyd Amos, formerly of Sedalia.

Goods Returned

After searching the men Chief Payne took the rings and other articles to the jewelry store for identification. They were taken so quickly and in such a manner the clerk did not know they were gone. Neither had Wheeler noticed the shoplifting and was very much surprised when the police chief came in with the stolen goods and told the occupants of the store what had occurred.

Negro Charged With Girl Slaying

COLUMBIA, Mo., March 1 — (AP) — Floyd Cochran, 34, negro, was formally charged today with the rape slaying here February 5 of Miss Marylou Jenkins, attractive Stephens college graduate, and was arraigned before Justice George Starrett on that charge and a charge of first degree murder in the fatal shooting last Saturday of his wife, Mae Anna Cochran. Cochran asked for a preliminary hearing in each case and it was set for next Wednesday morning.

House Rejects Ceilings On Existing Homes

WASHINGTON, March 1 — (AP) — The house rejected by a thumping 154 to 68 vote today an administration proposal to put price ceilings on all existing dwellings. The action left in the legislation a provision for pricing new houses, but an effort is expected later to strike this provision also.

Poultry Show Draws Record Attendance

Features Display of Poultry, Equipment; Appropriate Talks

The second annual Pettis County Poultry Improvement day held from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. today at the Sedalia armory, Ninth street and Ohio avenue, topped last year's attendance record as shown by 95 persons registered at 11 a. m. as compared to a total of 75 persons last year.

Open to the public, particularly to all poultry and turkey growers interested in improving poultry production and profits, the event sponsored by the Pettis County Extension office, featured displays of market poultry, commercial poultry and equipment, baby chicks, growing stock, graded eggs, home made equipment, brooder house floor plan with live chicks and a quality feed display.

W. E. Seelen Chairman

The program of the day, previously published, included addresses by J. U. Morris, Pettis county extension agent; Dr. A. J. Durant, chairman of the department of veterinary science, University of Missouri; Prof. H. L. Kempster, chairman of the department of poultry husbandry, University of Missouri; Mrs. W. J. Lamm, Mrs. George Cummings and Mrs. Earl Neff, Elmer Winer, extension poultryman, University of Missouri; and Rollo Singleton, field manager of the Missouri Poultry council. A moving picture show, "Profitable Poultry Production in Missouri," was presented.

Charged With Bank Robbery

NEVADA, Mo., March 1 — (AP) — William Major Thompson, 30-year-old Stockton farmer, yesterday was charged with the $1,500 robbery of the Bank of Sheldon, Mo., and ordered held under bond of $5,000.

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney A. E. Elliott said Thompson signed a statement admitting the robbery.

Thompson was arrested near Bolivar, Mo., Wednesday two hours after the bank was held up. Elliott said Thompson's statement said he robbed the bank "to get money to pay my debts, as some of my creditors were crowding me."

Thompson was bound over to circuit court. He waived preliminary hearing.

Invite Russia To Talk Loan

WASHINGTON, March 1 — (AP) — The United States has invited the Soviets to come here and talk over a $1,000,000,000 loan.

This was disclosed today by a high ranking government official as President Truman told congress he soon will recommend adding $1,250,000,000 to the lending powers of the Export-Import Bank to take care of loans to countries other than Britain.

Mr. Truman's message said treasury funds will be loaned only to Britain—providing congress approves a projected $3,750,000,000 credit. Other borrowers will have to go to the Export-Import Bank.

The proposed British credit was described as a "unique case" which would "not set a precedent" for loans of treasury funds to other countries.

Rector Will Frequent Pub

BUCKNELL, England, March 1 — (AP) — This Oxfordshire town was granted a full liquor license today after the village rector had declared he would frequent the village pub.

"The village that lacks a public house lacks social influence, the heritage of the British people," the Rev. P. Nott told the magistrate. "I want to remove the stigma attached to the frequenting of public houses. It should not surprise people if, on going to the rectory, they should be told 'you will find the rector at the public house.'"

"I maintain that is where he should be, among his people, enjoying with them discussions and ascertaining their points of view, he may be able to help them."

Story Hour Saturday

The weekly story hour for children will be held at the Sedalia Public library at 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

By special request of the children, Miss Laila Smart will tell the story "Lassie" and a surprise story.

Hitler Consoled Himself and Official Callers With Alibis

By Daniel de Luce

NUERNBERG, March 1 — (AP) — One month after he declared war on the United States, Adolf Hitler confessed he had no idea how to win it.

A strangely befuddled fuhrer, stammering apologies for the failure of his grandiose plans during 1941, is depicted in captured transcripts from his own chancellery.

On a single afternoon — Jan. 3, 1942 — Hitler attempted to console himself and official callers with these alibis:

"If the German army had only had six more days of good weather before the arrival of the mud, they would have thrust into Moscow, but under the unfavorable weather conditions there was nothing else to do but halt the offensive."

"Rommel's retreat was due to the Italian failure to protect supply convoys to Africa. One hundred and twenty tanks were waiting at Naples for shipment."

Italians Reckless

"The Italians are very reckless with their utterances. They have light-minded telephone conversations and use an insecure code."

"Naturally everything would be done to destroy Moscow and Leningrad . . . There was 42 degrees of frost. The people could hardly go out of doors and German soldiers' hands froze to their rifles."

"The loss of motor transport to the cold was the greatest German loss in the Russian winter."

"No 'strategic withdrawals' are made. The Russians must pay with blood every day. The Russians use 10,000 to 15,000 men in attacking on a kilometer of the front."

"The English send an entire fleet squadron against single coastal batteries on isolated Norwegian islands, and in this way achieve small successes."

"England can be destroyed. How the United States can be overcome one does not know."

Strike Briefs

Major Developments

ELECTRICAL — CIO pickets and sympathizers at Philadelphia's strikebound General Electric plant call off plans for new demonstration when city prohibits parading without permit and 600 policemen alerted to enforce edict.

Yesterday's violence brings threat from CIO union leaders of a general strike call of 150,000 CIO workers. Pennsylvania governor says he will send in state police and troops if necessary, to maintain order.

AUTOMOTIVE — CIO United Auto Workers and General Motors resume negotiations after lengthy night session surrounded by some expectancy, ends without agreement over issues in 101-day old strike; no comment, no statement following discussions with GM president; UAW-CIO GM council opens two-day meeting in Detroit.

COMMUNICATIONS — Nationwide strike of some 250,000 telephone workers still scheduled for March 7 but federal conciliators arrange for resumption of negotiations in New York Sunday between the American Telephone and Telegraph company and the Federation of Long Line Telephone Workers.

STEEL — Nearly 600,000 of the 750,000 CIO United Steel Workers who were on strike for four weeks covered by new contracts, most of them granting 18½ cents hourly wage hikes; steel industry moving rapidly back to normal; fabricating plants, employing about 188,000, still strikebound.

Veterans Waiting List Increases

WASHINGTON, March 1 — (AP) — The waiting list at Veterans Administration hospitals increased nearly 40 per cent—from 12,220 to 17,015—in January, the agency reported today.

At the same time, the number already being cared for reached a new high of 89,756 in hospitals and 11,520 in Administration homes.

Only about 4 per cent of those seeking hospitalization had ailments connected with military service, the agency's statement said.

Alive and Well

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 1 — Terry Taylor, the 4-year-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Andrew Taylor, Charlotte, N. C., missing since Tuesday, was found alive and well here Thursday night with the nurse, Miss Rosemary Johnson, 19, from whom she did not want to be separated even for bedtime.

Tougher Policy Expected

U. S. Showdown With Moscow is Foreshadowed by Secretary Byrnes

WASHINGTON, March 1. — (AP) — The United States government is expected by diplomatic officials here to protest to Russia against the newly announced plan of keeping Red army forces in so-called "disturbed" areas of Iran.

These diplomats, who refused direct quotation, said it was "perfectly reasonable" to expect the American government to object strongly to the Russian policy. Two reasons for such action were cited.

One is that all Russian troops were supposed to get out of Iran by tomorrow at the latest. The other is that Secretary of State Byrnes in his New York speech last night laid heavy emphasis on the need for all countries to get their armies home again and stop using force or threats of force for political advantage.

By John Hightower

WASHINGTON, March 1. — (AP) — An American showdown with Moscow over the Red army's deployment in strategic areas of Europe and Asia was foreshadowed today by the stern new foreign policy enunciated by Secretary of State Byrnes.

Direct and vigorous measures likewise were indicated against the Soviet policy of stripping the property from liberated countries of former enemy satellites.

TOKYO, March 1. — (AP) — Secretary of State Byrnes' strongly worded statement on U. S. foreign policy is sure to receive wide attention among the Japanese.

The Russian situation has become increasingly important in recent weeks among these people. They are affected directly by every Soviet move southward. Thousands of Japanese have relatives and friends who disappeared behind the Russian wall of silence in Northern Korea and Manchuria.

The Byrnes pronouncement in New York last night was generally interpreted here as heralding a tougher administration policy toward Russia all along the line, particularly with regard to Soviet expansionist tendencies and the Kremlin's lone-hand maneuvers in neighboring nations.

Countries Involved

Three countries seemed likely to figure in the Soviet troop removal issue, according to information here. They are Iran, Austria and China, but there are other areas less urgently involved.

Efforts have been underway for some time, it was learned, to get the Russians to agree to withdrawal of Allied troops from Austria — but without success.

As for Iran, tomorrow is the generally accepted deadline for evacuation of Soviet forces there, but official reports reaching Washington say there is virtually no evidence that they intend to pull out by that time.

Growing Concern

Meanwhile there is growing concern among many officials as to Soviet intentions in Manchuria in view of recent reports that Red army forces there show signs of staying on indefinitely.

The Manchurian situation is not considered by many authorities here to be critical at the moment, but private comment underscored Byrnes warning that "we do not want to stumble and stagger into a situation where no power intends war, but no power will be able to avert war."

Bothwell Hospital Notes

Mrs. Delbert Thompson and daughter of Smithton dismissed.

Miss Lois Green, Route 2, Sedalia, admitted for tonsilectomy.

Walter V. McCormick, route 1, Sedalia; Mrs. George Anderson, 602 East Boonville street and Mrs. Helen Owen, 1300 South Ohio avenue, dismissed.

To Resume Production

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 1. — (AP) — Production at the Ford Motor company assembly plant here, closed early in February because of a shortage of parts, will be resumed the middle of this month.

Plant Manager Ira B. Groves said workers would be called as soon as sufficient parts can be obtained to keep the assembly line going.

WASHINGTON, March 1—Harry Truman certainly seems to have a yen for Missouri insurance men, some of them not too far removed from the Boss Pendergast bribery scandal. Insurance men seem to gravitate around him like flies around Missouri sorghum.

Latest to join the Truman forces is Adm. Sidney W. Souers, USNR, a former St. Louis insurance man, who figured in the bankruptcy and reorganization of the Missouri State Insurance company. He has just been made director of central intelligence, the super-duper sleuthing agency which operates directly under the White House and is charged with the all-important job of ascertaining what other nations are doing about secret war moves, including the atomic bomb.

His appointment coincides with that of another insurance man, George Allen, to be a director of the RFC. Four of Allen's companies were involved in the bribing of Harry Truman's old friend, Boss Pendergast of Kansas City. Although Souers was financial vice president, the collapse may not have been his fault. However, the interesting point is the manner in which Boss Pendergast's insurance, commissioner, Emmett O'Malley (who later went to jail), reorganized the company and reinstated Souers as a vice president.

Boss Pendergast's Friend
Mr. O'Malley hastened to get himself appointed receiver, but, even before he did so, let it be known that he favored entering into a contract with a New York promoter group which had just

"Murder!" They Cried

By DOROTHY STALEY

Copyright, 1946, NEA Service, Inc.

XXV
DINNER that night was a most uncomfortable affair. There was so much to be said; so little we could talk about. Sentences were left suspended in mid-air; questions went unanswered, indeed, unheard. Conversation turned by its own weight to the question of the twins and Mr. Willson finally counseled patience. He felt that the twins were in good hands and that if we waited, that angle might solve itself. Fletch agreed with him and while I don't think my Miss Jenny did, she held her tongue. I fully agreed with Mr. Willson. With all her faults, and in spite of the fact that she was not very maternal, Phillipa, I was sure, had done nothing that would harm the twins. Mr. Willson at that point voiced the same opinion, and Uncle Andrew said, "Why would she? They were money in the bank for her."

The district attorney's office called shortly after dinner to ask Fletch and Mr. Willson to come down there. It was something about releasing Phillipa's body. When they came back, they had a copy of the Sun. Daniel Corliss had gathered up his staff and gotten out a paper. "A special Willson edition," Fletch said bitterly.

The whole story was there down the last detail of Dr. MacArthur's automobile ride. And side by side with the current event was practically a reprint of the old newspaper stories of May 18, 1917.

I was glad that my Miss Jenny and Betsy and Dru had gone upstairs to write letters and do some of the other necessary things. I was going to burn the paper but Mr. Willson stopped me. "Might be incorporated under the name of General American Life Insurance company. They offered $2,000,000 for the assets of the old Missouri State Life.

Thirteen different state insurance commissioners came to St. Louis to oppose O'Malley's deal. One objection was that O'Malley had not advertised for bids two weeks in advance, as required by law. Clinton O. Shepherd, attorney for Missouri State Life, testified that the new company which O'Malley was so anxious to favor would have a profit of $4,000,000 to $5,000,000 out of their $2,000,000 investment. Reluctantly, Circuit Judge Hamilton okayed the deal.

Immediately, O'Malley reinstated Souers as vice president, despite the fact that, on the face of it, his previous operations as financial vice president appeared not too successful.

O'Malley later accepted a bribe of $62,500 from a group of insurance companies in connection with the Boss Pendergast insurance scandal, and went to jail.

Souers is now in Washington in charge of one of the most important intelligence jobs in the nation.

Note — Souers is also a director of aviation corporation, of which George Allen is a director. This is a Victor Emmanuel company, and represents another link in the ever-increasing chain between this giant Wall Street financier and friends of Harry Truman.

Mrs. Roosevelt's Bodyguard
Not much was heard about kindly ex-Senator John Townsend of Delaware who served as an alternate American delegate to the United Nations. A staunch Republican, his appointment caused a furore when announced, following which Townsend dropped almost out of sight.

One day, however, a huge crowd gathered to watch the UNO delegates file into Westminster. Many of the delegates went in two by two.

Not Soviet Delegate Vyshinsky, however. The crowds noted that four burly Russian bodyguards surrounded him. Remarked one Britisher:

"Look at Mrs. Roosevelt compared with those four Russian bodyguards around Vyshinsky. She has only one elderly gentleman guarding her."

It was ex-Senator John Townsend, long-time stalwart of the Republican national committee, but now a friendly escort of Mrs. Roosevelt.

Secret Document
The state department is sitting on a highly secret document which, if ever published, will cast significant light on the Argentine situation.

It bears FDR's initials in the righthand corner, followed by the letters "OK," and gives the late president's blessing to the admission of Argentina as a member of the United Nations.

The memorandum, drafted by the state department, proposes American support of Argentine membership in the United Nations if (1) she signed guarantees of hemisphere security in the act of Chapultepec and (2) if she declared war on the Axis. Nelson Rockefeller, then assistant secretary of state in charge of Latin American affairs, was behind this memo which finally got FDR's approval.

as well let them see it some time, Nana. Everybody else has seen it, and it's better that we tell them what to expect."

It wasn't until that moment that I wondered how a man like Stephen Willson faced telling his children the story he had had to tell them, or that I remembered his diffidence at dinner. If indeed we are punished on this earth for those things we are taught are wrong, then Stephen Willson had indeed been scourged that day.

I WENT up to the little sitting room off my bedroom. I was very weary, but I didn't want to go to bed. I think I was reluctant to have the day whose troubles I knew passed on to be replaced by the tomorrow about whose worries and problems I knew nothing. So I got out my knitting and the horrible thought of the morning returned. Were we knitting while someone rode to meet death? I was glad when Betsy came in and I could lay it aside.

She fiddled around with the small figures on the bookshelves in the corner and made a lot of remarks. "It's hot." "I always liked this shepherd boy, Nana." It took her some time to ask the question she had come to ask.

She put a little blouse figuring down carefully and with her back still toward me said, "Am I very much like my mother, Nana, when she was young?"

"No," I answered. "You look more like your father's people."

"I don't mean that, Nana. Do I act like her? Do I think like her?"

"Yes," I said hesitatingly, "to some extent. She was livelier, and I think more determined. But otherwise, I think, you're like her."

"I'm glad," she answered, "I hoped I was."

There was an interesting though secret exchange with Australia shortly before General Yamashita was hanged. Australia asked the U. S. why no death sentences had been carried out against condemned Jap war criminals. The war department replied that 23 Japs had been condemned since December, but none executed; referred Australia to MacArthur as to why the 23 had not been executed. Shortly afterwards, Yamashita and two others were hanged. . . . Keep an eye on ex-Senator Clarence Dill of Washington to become the new assistant secretary of the interior. . . . New Secretary of the Interior
J. A. "Cap" Krug is one of the first products of government to assume high office. He began at the bottom rung with the Tennessee Valley Authority and has worked his way to the top. . . . He is shrewd, intelligent, efficient, but if Truman planned a gesture to appease the Liberals who be-moaned Ickes' departure, Krug will be a flop. . . . In later years, Krug has veered steadily toward the right, is now considered the idol of big business representatives in Washington. Krug's big debut in Washington was as utilities administrator for the WPB. He did an A-1 job, won unanimous confidence. Prior to that he had done an equally good job with TVA. Commissioned in the navy, Krug later was released from the navy to take Donald Nelson's place as WPB chief. . . . As such, he established new efficiency, cut out jealousies, stuck to his decisions once they were made. . . . On at least one occasion, he raised Cain with WPB vice chairman Sam Anderson of Lehman Bros. who planned to divert a small amount of steel away from civilian re-conversion.

As the war ended, Krug made his chief mistake. He decided (1) that the nation would have unbounded amounts of materials and (2) that we needed no more controls. He took this stand publicly and his colleagues in the government still are throwing it up to him—especially when it comes to housing. . . . On one occasion, Krug prepared an article for the New York Times which war mobilizer Fred Vinson, now secretary of the treasury, held up and drastically modified. Krug was ready to toss all the controls overboard. Vinson cautioned, however, that they could not be released overnight.

Krug played a part in the bitter battle over power between David Lilienthal, head of TVA, and Ickes. Harry Hopkins and Lilienthal were determined that Ickes should not control all government power projects and picked Krug to hold the strategic job of WPB power executive as an offset to Ickes. . . . Now that Krug is secretary of the interior, the government's giant power projects such as Bonneville, Boulder Dam, Grand Coulee and the Tennessee Valley may be placed under one executive. . . . Krug has been pulling wires to get the interior department job for months. At one time he went up to New York to get Bernie Baruch behind him. It is believed that Baruch's push this week finally put Krug across.

"You have quite a bit of your father's reserve," I added. "My father," she said. All this time she had her back to me, and she was holding tightly to the edge of the bookcase. "I think my father is a very wonderful man; he's strong and good, and so is Fletch. I'm glad they're mine."

SHE swung around and faced me. "I thought for a moment this afternoon I would die, Nana."

"Yes, Betsy," I replied. "I know."

"It was silly, Nana." Her voice was close to breaking. "But all I could think of was sledding once go to bed. I think I was reluctant to have the day whose troubles I knew passed on to be replaced by the tomorrow about whose worries and problems I knew nothing. So I got out my knitting and the horrible thought of the morning returned. Were we knitting while someone rode to meet death? I was glad when Betsy came in and I could lay it aside."

I said nothing and she walked to the window and looked out. "There are lights in the rock garden, Nana," she said idly. "I suppose they will be searching there all night."

Almost without stopping for breath, she said, "What was he like, Nana?"

"I don't need to tell you, do I, Betsy?"

She shook her head. "No, Nana. I know." She came and laid her face against the top of my head for a moment. "Don't worry about me, Nana. I'll be all right."

She left the room quickly and I didn't try to stop her. A good cry very often is like a sudden summer storm. It clears the atmosphere.

And then I wished I hadn't thought of summer storms.

Social Events

The wedding of Miss Emogene Schupp, daughter of Mrs. Erna Schupp of Stover, and Glen M. Siegel, foster son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Siegel, of Stover, was solemnized at the Pyrmont Lutheran church last Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock by the Rev. H. A. Kolm.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Heniz Schupp. They were met at the altar by the bridegroom and his attendant, Norman Munsterman as Mrs. Kolm played the "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" on the organ.

The bride's dress was of white satin with a full overskirt of net, long fitted sleeves and sweetheart neckline which fastened down the back with satin-covered buttons. She wore a shoulder length veil arranged in Juliet effect and a double strand of pearls. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and fern and a blue silk handkerchief, which was a gift from her father (recently deceased) to her mother during World War I.

The maid of honor, Miss Violet Schupp, sister of the bride, wore a blue satin gown and the bridesmaid, Miss Norma Jean Barnhart, of Kansas City, a cousin, a pink taffeta with a net skirt. Both wore corsages of carnations.

As the recessional the organist played the Mendelssohn Wedding March.

A dinner was served the wedding party and immediate relatives at the home of Mrs. Schupp at 5 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Siegel are graduates of Stover high school. The bride has been employed at the Goodenow company in Kansas City for several years. Mr. Siegel recently was discharged from the army after serving overseas in Germany and France. He will be employed in the Ford plant in Kansas City.

Child Is Found At Annapolis

Terry Taylor In Charge Of Nurse Alive And Well

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 28.—(AP)—Four-year old Terry Taylor of Charlotte, N. C., missing since Tuesday, was found alive and well here tonight with the nurse, Rosemary Johnson, 19, from whom she didn't want to be separated, even for bedtime.

Police Commissioner Thomas G. Basil said Miss Johnson was found with Terry, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Andrew Taylor, at a naval officer's home where she was hired yesterday as a maid.

He said she had used the name of Rosemarie McCabe and posed as a destitute widow of three weeks with a four-year old child. Basil said she admitted her identity and also admitted bringing Terry from Charlotte on a journey which grew out of a trip to a soda fountain with a soldier.

The commissioner asserted no charges had been filed but that Miss Johnson would be held at Annapolis police headquarters pending arrival of Charlotte officers.

Miss Johnson told him, he continued, that she had no intentions "of kidnaping Terry and intended to return her in a week."

Seemed Contented

She sat on Miss Johnson's lap and remained happily quiet until someone suggested that she should go to Commissioner Basil's home and go to bed while the young woman remained at headquarters.

The child refused to leave without the nurse and finally Miss Johnson went with the police commissioner to put the little girl to bed.

The clue which led to Terry's recovery at 7:30 p. m. was given to naval intelligence by Capt. George Cameron Seay, of the naval academy's department of electrical engineering.

Mrs. Seay suspected that the maid she hired yesterday was the nurse described in news dispatches from Charlotte.

Young Indian Tries to Eat Eggs; They Always Come up

By Hal Boyle

BOMBAY, March 1.—(P)—Krishvanu is a young Indian who has given up hope of ever swallowing western culture — all because of eggs.

He is a highly intelligent young man, vastly serious and eager to know and assimilate the best that America and Europe can offer.

He is a typical young Indian intellectual. He is very proud of the fact that he can speak six languages. He wears western-cut clothes and likes American movies, although he doesn't believe they are serious enough.

There are two things in life that Krishvanu cannot tolerate. One is Great Britain — and the other is eggs.

His hatred of all things British is the ruling passion of his life. Like most Indians of his class he thinks that all things evil in the world originate in London. If the British empire in its long history ever accomplished one good deed, Krishvanu has never been informed of it officially. He sees the British rule of India as one continuous black record of brutality, extortion and degradation for his people.

Dresses Well

Yet Krishvanu dresses as much as possible as if he had just stepped out of Saville Row, and he loves to speak the English language. He likes to drink like the English, too, and he would also love to eat like "the bloody English" — if it weren't for those horrible things called eggs.

For all of his advanced views on life and his yearning to be free of the shackles that have chained his people for centuries, Krishvanu is an unhappy orthodox at heart. He is a Brahmin, highest caste in the Hindu religious hierarchy.

The Brahmins are forbidden liquor and meat.

They are strict vegetarians because of the rule they must never take life or eat anything that ever contained animal life — such as porterhouse steak. For this reason many Hindus will not touch even eggs. Some will eat them, however, if they are certain they were laid by hens that never met a rooster. Since this is generally hard to prove in the average restaurant, most highly orthodox Hindus shun eggs entirely.

Likes a Highball

But Krishvanu decided he must abandon all of these old standards as many educated Indians have done. He took to tasting wine and liquor and now he likes a Scotch highball as much as any Briton. He sampled pork and mutton — beef is verboten because the cow is sacred to Hindus — but found the meat not to his liking.

Then he tried eggs — completely unconscious of their full horror.

"My first one was fried," he said, "and when I cut it in half and the yolk ran out I thought I would faint. But I forced myself to sit there and eat it all. When I had finished I had to run from the table and throw it up."

Fifteen times since then — Krishvanu keeps score on his egg-eating efforts — he has forced down an egg and each time it has bounced right back up. He just can't keep a good egg down.

"I have tried them boiled," he said, "and when I tried them fried, I have tried them scrambled. I have tried them poached," he said. "Every time it came back up."

I asked Krishvanu how the egg tasted to him.

Guilty Down to Stomach

"It is impossible to describe," he said, "except to say that it is horrible. Just as I swallow it, I have the sense that I am doing something terribly wrong. I feel guilty clear down to my stomach."

"Why don't you give up, then?" I asked. "You don't have to eat eggs."

"No," said Krishvanu stubbornly. "I must conquer this thing. How can one progress if one can't even eat an egg?"

"Well," I suggested, "why don't you try an egg beaten up in a chocolate milkshake? Then you couldn't see it, smell it, feel it or taste it?"

"May be," said Krishvanu, and then he asked doubtfully, "Would that be entirely fair?"

Vita-Orange Plant Opening

Bert O. Hathaway, son-in-law of Dr. H. U. Campbell, pastor of the Fifth Street Methodist church, and recently discharged from the United States Navy Air Corps, is establishing the Vita-Orange company in Sedalia.

The plant with a capacity of 300 gallons a day will be located at 615 South Ohio street.

Mr. Hathaway is using the advantages of the G. I. Bill of Rights in establishing this firm. Under the terms of the legislation, he is permitted to have adequate sugar for manufacturing beverages.

Vita-Orange is made of citrus juices and will be bottled in half gallon bottles. This will meet the demand of housewives for bulk beverages. Vita-Orange will be supplied through local dealers.

The franchise was issued by the Vita-Orange company, 4114 Troost avenue, Kansas City, the parent company, and at this time only ex-service men are able to enter this type of business and obtain sugar allotments.

Mr. Hathaway was a lieutenant, senior grade, and served in the Caribbean and African theatres. He formerly lived in Kansas City, and was a student at Central college, Fayette. He belongs to the American Legion, and was released from the service last November.

Dr. B. L. Duncan Locating Here

Dr. Byron Lambert Duncan, osteopathic physician and surgeon, who has practiced in Knob Noster, LaMonte, Lincoln, Cole Camp, and the last year with his brother, Dr. Morris Duncan, at Festus and Crystal City, has arrived in Sedalia to locate and will practice here.

Dr. Duncan is making his home at the Bothwell hotel. He plans to build his own clinic building.

The young osteopath is very much interested in his profession, but he is also interested in politics, and has the reputation of having been the "baby republican" at the 1932 national republican convention held in Chicago. At that time he was 22 years of age and was sent to the convention as a delegate from the old eighth congressional district. He was written up in many city papers, and the story was carried by Ripley in his "Believe it or Not."

Convincing After Operation

Mrs. J. B. Drake, 4116 Villanova street, Houston, Texas, formerly of Sedalia, who underwent an operation about a week ago is improving, according to word received here by friends.

When in Sedalia Mr. Drake was chief engineer at the Water company.

More Terminal Leave for GIs

WASHINGTON, March 1.—(P)—Terminal leave for GIs got another boost today.

A house military sub-committee reported it had decided in favor of legislation which would put all enlisted personnel on the same footing as officers in getting compensated for unused leave when returning to civilian life.

This is the present picture: Enlisted men are entitled to 30 days furlough a year, but if they are unable to take advantage of it because of their duties or other reasons, it goes by the boards. It does not accumulate.

Officers receive the same 30-day leave allowance, annually, but it is not cancelled out at the end of a year if they do not use it. Army regulations permit officers' leave to accrue up to 120 days. The effect is that an officer with maximum accrued leave will receive his full pay and allowances for four months after he leaves the service.

The legislation approved by a military subcommittee headed by Representative Sikes (D—Fla.) would provide terminal leave pay for enlisted men for the same number of days that officers now are eligible.

Estimates of the cost of the bill, committee members said, range as high as $6,000,000,000.

No Evidence Of Drunks At Party

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—(P)—The navy said today there was "no evidence of intoxication" at a farewell party for the German crew of the Prinz Eugen, held aboard the Nazi cruiser last Sunday in Philadelphia.

Vice Adm. Charles A. Lockwood, Jr., navy inspector general who made a two day investigation, reported the conduct of the crew and visitors was at all times orderly.

(The Philadelphia Record, in an account of the party, had said that "despite navy regulations, liquor flowed on the Nazi vessel." Capt. A. H. Graustart, commanding officer of American crewmen aboard previously had said no whisky was on the vessel and had termed the Record story "a perversion of truth.")

Lockwood said American relatives of the German crew and their families had been permitted to visit the ship.

"There was no evidence of intoxication among the visitors and the crew and every precaution was taken to insure no liquor or other illegal articles were carried aboard," Lockwood added in a statement released by the navy. He said a choral group was permitted to sing but no Nazi songs were sung.

Weird Kind Of Airfield

WASHINGTON, March 1.—(P)—One of the weirdest stories of the war came to light today—how the Allies planned to create a 2,000,000-ton self-propelled iceberg as a floating airfield.

As blueprinted by the British, the fantastic aircraft carrier would have been a chunk of frozen water and wood pulp 2,000 feet long, 300 feet wide and 200 feet deep.

Propelled by electric motors and defended by its own anti-aircraft guns, it would have provided a North Atlantic base for airplanes hunting German submarines. Its cost was estimated at $70,000,000.

The project reached the point where a 1,000-ton model was built on a Canadian lake and tested for six months in 1943 before the idea was dropped, according to an announcement released last night in Ottawa, London and Washington.

Technicians reported the strange carrier would have been virtually invulnerable to submarine attack. A torpedo exploding against its ice-wood pulp walls would have gouged out a crater no more than three feet deep.

Success of other anti-submarine tactics and technical difficulties in building the gigantic floating field led to its abandonment.

Anglers Line Trout Streams

JEFFERSON CITY, March 1.—(P)—More than 1,200 sportsmen lined the banks and waded the waters of trout streams in Missouri's three state parks today and the Conservation Commission reported early successes indicated plenty of line-tugging brook trout with a yen for the lures the fishermen offered.

Generally the streams were only slightly murky and the clear, warming weather of the opening day brought out throngs of anglers. No count has been made in the five special management areas, but at 10 a. m. the commission had sold 1,241 tags in the parks.

The sport was best in Roaring River State Park where 338 men, women and youngsters whipped the streams with flies or tossed a baited hook into a likely spot. There the water was clear and only a light wind blew as the March sun warmed the backs of anglers.

But some of them didn't stay at it long.

Rollie Edmondson of (1604 S. Noland) Independence, Mo., caught his daily limit of eight trout in 12 minutes after the opening gun a half hour before sunrise. Glennon Horner of Cassville was right behind in catching his limit in 14 minutes.

Among Pettis countians who were in the crowd at Bennett Springs were Dell Ilmberger, Frank Hugelman, H. A. Bremer, James Hall, Tom Gray and Dick Monsees.

Leaving the place at 12 o'clock noon Ilmberger was informed by the game warden that 668 had registered at that hour, about two hundred more than at the same time last year.

Sentiment Favors Strike

Sunday School Lesson

A People Finding a Homeland.
Scripture: The Book of Joshua, especially Joshua 1:1-4; 23:1-11

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

A lesson on the Jews' quest of a homeland, or on their return to the homeland their fathers had left when famine turned them toward Egypt and the power and prestige of Joseph led them to leave Palestine, has an immediate and special interest today that it could hardly have had a generation or two ago.

Once again the eyes of many Jews are turned toward their ancient home in Palestine. The tragic situation of Jews in Europe who have survived the terrors of Nazi persecution and mass assassination has emphasized strongly the hopes and issues associated with Zionism and the effort to re-establish in Palestine a place of refuge and of restoration.

But again as of old, strong forces are opposed to the Jews in the movement to a Promised Land. How much of this opposition might be assuaged if the movement were not political for the establishment of a Jewish national state no one can say. Jewish leaders themselves are by no means agreed upon the wisdom of this effort to establish a political Jewish state in Palestine. A Jewish "nation" though so far as I know all are agreed upon the desirability of finding a larger place in Palestine for Jewish refugees and for Jews who wish to settle in their ancient homeland.

Great exception is taken to British action in unduly limiting immigration into Palestine and it is claimed that the country by irrigating the desert and by following out the policies that have already established a prosperous Jewish community, could readily absorb and offer happy, prosperous life to all the thousands seeking admission.

It is claimed too, that while adverse elements have stirred up trouble between Jews and Arabs that Arabs actually have participated in and benefitted from the prosperous development that the resettlement of Jews under the Zionist movement has already brought to the country.

It is pointed out with bitterness that while Britain has so harshly limited immigration of destitute and needy Jewish refugees, she has permitted great numbers of others to enter from surrounding regions drawn to Palestine by the prosperity and chances for better living standards made possible by what the Jews there have achieved.

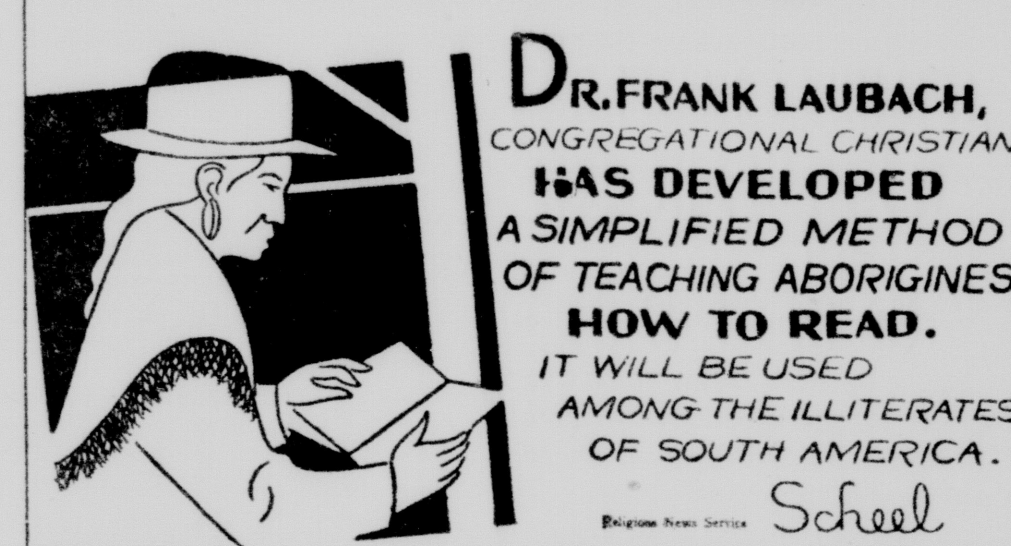

There is no space here to appraise these issues, nor am I competent to appraise them. As a pioneer in the movement for better and closer relations between Jews and Christians—over 30 years ago I was engaging in fraternal exchanges with Rabbi Joseph Minkin, distinguished author, when we were both in Hamilton, Ont., in synagogue and church, respectively—I am profoundly interested in Jewish welfare and in the right of Jews to live anywhere in the world, enjoying the same rights and privileges as other citizens.

While we criticize Britain for limiting immigration into Palestine where unsolved issues undoubtedly exist, I should like to see our own American countries adopting a more liberal and humane policy toward those who have suffered so cruelly from Nazi terrorism and war.

Indifference To Religion

Indifference toward religion among great masses of people is an admitted fact. It is a condition that prevails not only in the United States, but in countries throughout the world. There are many reasons for this, but they can be summed up in one observation; neglect of religion has fostered irreligion.

We live in a world of fast-moving scientific and social development; but it would seem that the more we advance on the material plane, the quicker we retreat on the spiritual. Men talk about progress, as if progress meant only a richer life for the body; as if they had no souls and could live entirely apart from God.

God has become only a vague idea to millions ensnared by the complexity and unrest of modern life, but the fault is not so much theirs as it is of the mentors who in their youth brought them knowledge and training but neglected mankind's greatest need—religion. Thus we have the tragic paradox of educated men and women who, in a spiritual sense, are almost totally illiterate.

It is impossible to expect anything but indifference from those who do not understand the meaning and purpose of religion. But it is also impossible to understand why the appalling fact of this indifference should be accepted with such apparent placidity in a world that more than ever needs a deep spiritual anchorage.

Indifference toward religion is not a challenge for the churches alone. It is a clear call to those whose faith is strong, but who tend to hide religion's light behind a bushel. The indifferent must be made to see the great reality of religion. The world needs leaders who will melt indifference with the fire of their own spiritual inspiration and example.

More important than anything else perhaps, it needs an alliance of parents and educators to extirpate indifference at its very roots by giving youth a foundation of solid religious education that will assure for the future a new age of religious belief and fervor.

3—In Memoriam

IN MEMORY of Dorothy Warren, our dear daughter passed away 3 years ago March 1, 1943. A precious one from us is gone. A voice we loved is stilled. A place is vacant in our home. Which never can be filled. Sadly missed by father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Carver and loved ones.

REIS: VIRGINIA CRAMER—She is just away. I cannot say—and I will not say that she is dead—she is just away.

With a cheery smile and wave of the hand. She has wandered into an unknown land. A. J. Reis, Dave Cramer and family.

Club is Given
Talk by Street

'Old Sarge' Tells
Them At Dinner
About Baseball

"Gabby" Street, former manager of the St. Louis Cardinals world champions and also the St. Louis Browns baseball teams, gave a most interesting talk to members of the Junior American Legion ball club and members of the legion's baseball committee, at a chicken dinner Thursday night. It was at the Puckett cafe and presided over by Milton Henlein, who introduced the speaker.

The dinner was given by A. A. Farrell, distributor of Griesedieck Bros., beer, which brewery is sponsoring a tour of the famous baseball player known throughout the country as "Old Sarge". Nearly all of the players of the 1945 baseball team were present, those absent being members of the Smith-Cotton high school basketball team which played in Warrensburg, also were the members of the Pettis County Post No. 16, baseball advisory committee, "Bill" Walker, manager of last season's team, Johnny Thomas newly elected manager of the Junior team and Vincent Siegel, manager of the new senior team, along with several players who will be on the older team were in attendance.

Some Good Pointers
Following the dinner "Gabby" began his talk on baseball by giving the young players excellent advice on how to become a ball player. He told the boys they could do more for themselves, than a dozen managers and trainers, by sitting down after a game and analyze the mistakes made during the game, and consider what could have been done to improve on the mistake or mistakes.

"A ball player who does not improve on his mistakes, but keeps making the same mistakes, is not at a standstill. No he is not going forward, but he is stepping backward. Baseball is a profession, a livelihood, something that a ball player can love, and at the same time make plenty good money.

"Baseball is not like a doctor's profession, lawyer's profession, or a business profession, it is something entirely different." He pointed to make good, players must work hard at it, or the result would be losing out.

"Just think," he said, "baseball has been in existence for 123 years, and in the entire time only two scandals. Incidentally not a scandal against an umpire or baseball manager. In this if you become involved in a scandal, a ball player isn't 'whitewashed' and given another chance, he is banished from the sport forever. To many a player it is his livelihood for life. He makes big money, thus he can if he will, save enough to buy himself a home, something that will keep him for the rest of his days. It leads players to other things which he can make a good living after his baseball days are over. But if he is involved, he is banished from the game, and never will the public have trust in a man who has suffered a baseball scandal.

"In closing," Street said, "I would like to see everyone of you youngsters make good in baseball. Remember what I have told you, listen intently to your manager, an analyze that mistake which you might make this coming season."

Street during his talk paid tribute to several of the players he saw play in the State Tournament at St. Louis last August, and complimented the Legion on their endeavors as a sponsoring group of such a fine program for boys.

Following the dinner "Gabby" spoke at Sacred Heart Catholic school to a group of school boys and girls and others of the parish on baseball. He reviewed many experiences he had in his playing career and his managerial career.

During his two day visit in Sedalia he spoke at the Missouri Pacific shops, Kiwanis, Hubbard high school, B. P. O. Elks Lodge 125, a dinner at the Pacific Cafe, and Smith-Cotton high school.

31 to Wentworth

Smith-Cotton Tigers lost their first game in the regional to Wentworth Military Academy Thursday night by a score of 35 to 31.

The Tigers started off with a bang to gain an early lead but lost it in the Third quarter. Vogel of the Wentworth team did most of the scoring for Wentworth. Smith-Cotton threatened the Wentworth team in the fourth quarter but Vogel again started on a scoring spree and obtained the four point lead for Wentworth.

Other results were: Lee's Summit lost to Jefferson City; North Kansas City High school defeated Montrose.

Wentworth had a record of 18 victories against one loss. That one lost was to the Kemper Military academy in what Wentworth claims was an upset. The Tigers defeated Kemper for the sub-region title last week.

The military academy team has two boys who sparked the scoring for Wentworth this year. Vogels and Kelley. As a whole the team is much taller than the Tigers.

Smithton Wins
From Napton

In the opening game of the Thursday night session of the Ottumville tournament Smithton overpowered Napton 62 to 37. At end of the first quarter it looked like anybody's ball game but with Schlotzhauer of Smithton scoring 10 fast points Smithton pulled to a comfortable 28 to 17 lead at the half. In the opening minutes of the second half Napton put on a scoring threat but it was matched by Smithton with Napton pulling within eight points of the lead, which was the nearest they had been since the end of the first quarter. All members of the Smithton quintette contributed to the score equally with the exception of Schlotzhauer, who scored 25 points to be high man for the game. The game was well played by both teams, neither of which would let up until the final whistle.
